FOR CLERK COURT OF APPEALS.
We are authorized to announce Mr. GEO. H. MADDEN as a candidate for Clerk Court of Appeals, subject to the action of the Democratic State Convention.

The Democrats of Iowa will bend every energy to defeat Allison for re-election to the Senate.

The Convention to nominate a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals will be held in Louisville, May 28th.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch says the next victory for the people will be the location of the World's Fair at St. Louis.

There is great destitution in Dakota. Crops have failed three times in succession and many persons have neither food, fuel nor money.

A new law has gone into effect in Missouri which excludes billiards, cards, dice, pool and gambling and amusement devices from saloons.

As Vice-President Morton denies that he had any intention of opening a saloon, it is but just that the office he holds should have the benefit of his denial.

Mr. Harrison announced his intention of breaking the solid South with Mahone, but the gun went off at the wrong end and busted Iowa and Ohio.

The Lexington tragedy shows that the pacific and humanizing influences of Christianity and civilization have not yet made the name of Bloody Hunting Ground inapplicable to Kentucky.

PRESIDENT HARRISON says he "would regret to see a negro clerk in the Indianapolis post-office," his home. Why should he any more than to have them appointed at Memphis and many other places in the South.

In the Presidential election the Democrats carried the country by one hundred thousand majority, and by one million majority counting only the white vote. Where would the Republican party be today without the negro vote!

DAKOTA farmers are calling upon the country for aid. Three successive crop failures have left them in a pitiable condition. About the best aid that could be given them would be emigrant tickets to Kentucky, where they can make a living.

Eight inches more of snow is reported in New York on top of the unprecedented fall already announced. The territory is now so deeply buried that its admission to the union is thought to be impracticable until the summer sun thaws it out.

THE South looms up in the figures of railroad construction during the current year. Georgia reports the largest construction in any single State in the Union. Texas stands third, Virginia fourth, Tennessee fifth, North Carolina sixth, and Mississippi seventh. This is a very favorable indication.

THE Court of Appeals has decided, in an appeal case from Rowan county, that where under a prohibitory liquor law a physician has a right to prescribe medicine as a medicine and have it administered to his patient, a druggist who in faith furnishes liquor upon the prescription of a physician to one whose condition at the time requires it, does not violate the law, which must be construed according to its spirit.

THE success of the Australian secret ballot system has been shown wherever the experiment has been fairly tried. In not a single instance from the time of its trial by one or two municipalities in this country up to the recent yearly elections in Connecticut and the new Western States has it failed to meet the expectations of its warmest advocates. Everywhere prominent Democrats and Republicans, and especially workingmen, concede the benefit of the secret ballot.

THE fatal encounter between Col. Wm. Cassius Goodloe and Col. A. M. Swopes, at Lexington, last Friday, was a really lamentable affair. Swopes died on the spot, and Goodloe died Sunday. These gentlemen were prominent Republican politicians, and each aspired to be the leader of that party in this State, and between them an ugly feud had existed for some years, growing up because of jealousy as to each other's influence and prominence. They were both accredited as able men, and certainly they were brave ones.

THE EFFECT.

The Great Democratic Victories.

The Republican papers pretend to attribute the great democratic victories to local causes, at these elections extended over so much territory, in too many States, to be explained away by local causes altogether. If the Democrats had only won one great gain in some one State, then it might be argued with some plausibility "local issues" caused the result.

The Republican leaders know better, and are commencing to address themselves to the aroused indignation of the people.

What will be the effect of these Democratic victories? It will effect two things as the COURIER confidently believes.

1st. The much wanted Sherman election law, to control the elections in the Southern States, is either killed outright or will be greatly modified.

Second, the incoming Republican Congress will pass some kind of a tariff reduction bill, and swear they intended to do it all the time.

Our New Fall and Winter Stock of Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots and Shoes is now complete, and will be sold as low as any house in this section of the country.

Goodloe and Swopes.

Goodloe and Swopes, the two distinguished Republican leaders of this State, found the world too small to live in together, the Republican party of Kentucky too little to divide the honors to equal their ambitions, and hence the shocking tragedy, resulting in each slaying the other. Good people, irrespective of party, feel the horror of this terrible affair, and would willingly draw the mantle of charity and forgiveness over the dead and the living. Each, so doubt, felt impelled by a sense of honor, and thousands no doubt will applaud their courage and chivalry, and yet each of these men stand today in the presence of their Maker, guilty of each others blood, and the issue between them—earthly prominence—was in no wise settled. Thousands of good and brave men, irrespective of creed, religion or politics, have acted similarly, and will so continue to act, but the COURIER feels now, and has always felt that such men set through a fearful mistake, a sense of honor. Even when public men are under the fire of falsehood, misrepresentations and wrongs, it is not better to live the truth and thus confound your enemies, than by the desperate folly of alleged chivalry destroy all evidence of your being proven right.

—Bring your Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, &c., that need repairing, to Bob Buck, opposite Mr. Shaw's grocery, at Buck Bros' and he will repair them as a first-class workman should. ap28

The Census.

Next year the 11th census of the United States will be taken. Over and beyond the importance of the statistical information to be thus obtained, is the one that it will give thousands of little fat places to hordes of hungry office-seekers in the shape of census enumerators, one at least to every county, and in most counties, two or three. Besides, this census business, like everything else, is more or less partisan, because the number of votes in the Electoral College, that elects the President, is based upon this census enumeration. The Republicans contend that the negro vote in the South is not allowed to vote, and that, therefore, the South gets about 15 or 20 Congressmen that she should not have. And hence there will be some effort by the Republicans to do something to change this. The great increase of population will be in the Northwestern States, but there has also been a considerable increase in the South, but the New England representation has, probably, decreased. The census may revolutionize present political standards.

ANOTHER snow storm has swept over Western Kansas and Colorado, blocking trains and interfering with travel.

FLASHES OF SILENCE.

R. HARRISON'S THANKSGIVING.

Benjamin Harrison has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation for Nov. 28th, and luckily he did it before the Democratic cyclone of last week, for since then he has been silent, dumb as an oyster, and, possibly, could not write such a proclamation now.

What has he to be thankful for, anyhow?

Thankful that he is President of the United States by the voice of a minority of the people.

Is he thankful for the annihilation of his man Mahone in Virginia; the downfall of Foraker in Ohio; the certain knowledge of a Democratic U. S. Senator from that State; or the victorious shout of the Iowa Democrats; or in New York and New Jersey; or in Republican losses in Massachusetts, Indianapolis, and every other place where an election was held? Ah, yes, he can be thankful for holding on to Pennsylvania, and that is all.

Our stock of Clothing this season surpasses all former lines. Everything new in styles and goods. Perfect fitting, and prices can't be equalled.

ANYBODY TO BEAT CLEVELAND.

"The great man doesn't know what has happened in Ohio. His personal enemies have conspired to keep him in the dark. It is not any Cleveland and Campbell ticket that is to be evolved, either. Campbell will take the first place. How would Campbell and Hill answer? He is not—[Commercial-Gazette.]

It is noticeable that the great Republican papers never omit any opportunity to turn any and every event possible to the disadvantage of Cleveland, all of which help to convince Democrats that Cleveland is the one great Democrat that they stand in dread of. When the Democrats carry New York they twist it around as not a condemnation of the Republican party, but simply a local matter intended to boost Governor Hill for the Presidency, and, in effect, a condemnation of Cleveland. In New Jersey it is a victory of Gov. Abbott over Cleveland, and now in Ohio and Iowa it is the triumph of Governors-elect Campbell and Boies to set Mr. Cleveland aside. In deed and in truth the Democrats of the whole country are wedded to Mr. Cleveland because, as President, he gave to the people a grand and incorruptible administration, and one to which they can all point with pride; and, fortunately, the man that placed his party on the high vantage ground of tariff-reform, and the great Republican papers know this, and hence all their efforts for "anybody to beat Cleveland."

—Come and see our large and beautiful stock of Ladies and Gents solid Gold and Silver Watches. We will not be undersold.

BUCK BROS.

How is it? Good American bacon can be had in Europe for 44 cents per pound!—Cape Democrat.

Why, Ben, for a foolish question for a Republican paper to ask! Hog is not a manufactured article. It is a product of the farm. Therefore no laws are made to force its consumption at home—to make a Home Market for it. Necessarily there is a surplus which must go to the cheap foreign pauper labor. Now, if it was a woolen shirt, or a calico dress, or a hat, or other necessary or comfort, made up here at home—if the farmer was the only consumer—Protection would have been given it, and every hog in this country would have been eaten at home and the supply so contracted as to make the Protected industry one of enormous profit to the producer. Any good Republican knows this, and we are surprised at the Democrats' question.—[Charleston Democrat.]

THE FORESTRY CONGRESS.

The forestry Congress, at its recent session in Philadelphia, adopted resolutions requesting Congress to withdraw from sale all forest lands belonging to the nation, and to intrust them to the guardianship of the army until the President could appoint a commission to report a scheme for their permanent management. The action is timely. The destruction of forest lands in this country is proceeding with a rapidity that is alarming, and unless steps are taken to prevent the destruction of growing timber lands, the most deplorable consequences must result in some seasons.

An Angry President.

It seems from the newspaper correspondents that President Harrison is really angry over the recent elections, and, notwithstanding the fact that many of the Republican newspapers attempt to conceal it, it will crop out in the end. It is not certain that the President himself even wants to hide it. The other day, Mr. Sawyer, the Republican Senator from Wisconsin, called to see him to press the name of a Mr. Guenther, a German, for an office. The President cut him short by saying that I was no good time to present the name of a German, or the claim of Germans, after the desertion by that element in Ohio and Iowa, and gave the Senator to understand that it would be better not to urge the name of his friend. The Senator left in high dudgeon at first, but tried to soften things down afterwards.

Again, the President opened out a broad side on ex-Senator Kellogg, of Louisiana, and the colored Senator Bruce, about the statements that the colored people in the South were losing confidence in and respect for the administration. Kellogg held firm, but Bruce agreed to modify his talk by saying, in an interview, that the colored people had not distrusted, but the many late appointments of colored men to office was bringing the colored people around all right again. If the President is thus easily riled over election matters, what will he be in 1892 when the real cyclone comes.

We invite everybody to come and see our NEW GOODS. They certainly are nice, as this is the decision of all who give them careful inspection, and it is really astonishing how low they can be bought.

J. AMBERG'S SONS.

GRANDS MEN BY PRESIDENT HARRISON.

The twenty-third session of the National Congress was held at Sacramento, California, on the 13th inst. Many of the delegates are discussing the question of drafting resolutions censuring Mr. Harrison for the recent discourtesy shown them. John Trimble, Secretary of the Grange, thinks that the Grangers were snubbed when President Harrison appointed Mr. Rusak Secretary of Agriculture.

In an interview Trimble said: "We do not hesitate to say that the Administration has ignored the rights of the farmers and done the farming community a gross injustice in placing a politician, who never was a farmer, at the head of the Department of Agriculture."

"That Department was made a Cabinet office principally through the efforts of the Grange, and when the new Administration came in we felt that we had the right to suggest the name of a proper person to fill it."

"Col. J. H. Brigham, our master, ex-Gov. Robey, of Maine, and Hon. J. J. Woodman, of Michigan, were suggested by the order and their appointment urged. Harrison disregarded them, and hereafter we shall ignore the entire order."

"We carry the best line of Shoes in town—Mens, Boys, Ladies, Misses and Children's. When you need Shoes go to—"

SMITH, ELLISON & CO.

WHAT IT MEANS.

Governor Campbell's Explanation.

To National Democrat, Washington, D. C.
Replying to your telegram let me say that the result of the election in Ohio, so far as I am able to prognosticate, means:

First, that the people of this State are devoted to the principle of home rule, which has been violated by the present Administration in a manner very distasteful to the liberty-loving citizens of the State.
Second, that the cause of tariff-reform, by which I mean a careful business like prudent revision of the tariff, is marching on.
Third, that the people of this State sympathize with the country in general in the belief that third termism ought to be put down. By third termism I mean, of course, too long continuance in executive office, controlling patronage.
Fourth, that the Ohio Democrats have gained a victory, which, if supplemented by good government and just execution of fair laws, will make it, in the course of the next three years, one of the reliable Democratic States of the Union.

JAS. E. CAMPBELL.

FORAKER and Mahone, would that suit the Republicans for 1892!

CONTINUE THE CASE.

Reform of our Jury System.

In discussing the work to be before the Constitutional Convention the COURIER has cited the need of some reforms in our jury systems, specially noting the disadvantage of the Commonwealth charged with criminal offenses to the large challenge lists allowed the defendants. That article has been extensively copied by the State press, sometimes with credit and sometimes without, but the copying of which recognizes the need of some reform in our jury system. Alert lawyers, watching the interest of their guilty clients, quickly seize the advantage of this challenge privilege to place upon the jury one or more to prevent a verdict, and get the case continued. By the next term of the court the horror of the crime has measurably died out, witnesses are scattered, and another continuance follows, and so on until the leading witnesses are dead or continually not in attendance. These and similar causes leading to delays in trials, should be remedied.

But the right of trial by jury is sacred and should remain inviolate, and therefore any attempts at change or reform should be carefully and delicately considered, and made by intelligent hands. Some of our contemporaries suggest majority verdicts by juries as a solution to this interminable round of continuances. The COURIER could never consent to this in cases affecting the life and liberty of a citizen. True, it sometimes looks hard that one man, obstinate, contrary, or corrupt in some instances, should prevent eleven honest jurymen from inflicting proper punishment upon a really guilty criminal. But then a majority is not always right, nor are the two or three dissenting jurymen always dishonest. Instances have been known where one or two firm, dispassionate jurymen saved the life of an innocent man, and subsequently the whole jury and the whole country came to know it. As hard as it may seem sometimes, the Bible doctrine is right; ninety-nine guilty men had better escape than that one innocent man should suffer."

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

Each month records some additional progress with this great enterprise. Preparations are now making to dig from both the Atlantic and Pacific sides of the isthmus. On the Pacific side the work is expected to begin the first of January at Brito. The two sections of laborers will work towards each other and meet. On the Atlantic side it is a question what the name of the entering port shall be called. The native name of it is San Juan de Nicaragua, but a good while ago some Englishman called it Greytown. Whatever we call it, however, property is advancing in value within its limits already. It is agreeable to record that the American company who are constructing the canal take care of the health of their laborers and provide them with good food and pure water. The canal will not be finished 'till 1894 or 1895.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise—"A pure medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Rashes and other skin diseases caused by impure blood—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers—For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters—Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded. Price 50 cts. and $1.00 per bottle at J. W. Cowgill's Drug Store.

Wheeling Register: The American people have wearied of the arrogant war of protected minorities, who have heretofore appeared to think that their dollars could rule high Heaven.

St. Louis Republic: The Democrats got together Tuesday with great unanimity and triumphant success. They got together on the Democratic platform of tariff-reform, and it stood the test nobly.

New York World: Truly the "Campaign of Education" progresses rapidly. Now let us see, if, in the face of these results, a Republican Congress will dare to attempt to reduce the surplus by increasing tariff taxes.

St. Paul Globe: The taxpayers are tired of being robbed by the monopolies. They will submit to it no longer, and they have served upon the party in power notice of their intention to overthrow the high tariff inquiry.

New York Commercial: In Massachusetts the Democratic platform was a bold plea for tariff-reform, and the vote shows what has been accomplished in the past twelve months which the Massachusetts voters have had for thinking since the last Presidential election.

JOURNALISM in China seems to be attended with startling risks. The Pekin Gazette makes the ghastly assertion that 1,000 of its editors have been beheaded. As the journal claims to have been in existence for 1,000 years, it would appear that an average of two editors have been beheaded every year since the paper was started. It must be considered a choice piece of good fortune to succeed to the editorship of such a paper.

BALLOT REFORM.

Which Every Democrat Should Favor.

The Australian Ballot System has come to stay. It is important that every Democrat should understand its importance, and favor its extension throughout the Union.

Democrats have everything to gain and nothing to lose by accepting and advocating it. A method of voting which not only renders fraud impossible but renders it impossible for either political party to charge chicanery at the polls upon its opponent will be a great blessing to the country, and to all parties.

This is accomplished by the Australian system. It was tried under very excellent auspices last week and proved a complete success. That it is not a bad thing for the Democratic party is abundantly proved by the result.

A system which works so admirably in Massachusetts may prove to be just what is wanted in South Carolina. Republicans at least cannot deny that such will be the case.

The ballots and election machinery are provided by the State and local candidates, and managers are spared all expenses in furnishing ballots or supervising the voting.

The voter is admitted to an enclosure where he receives a printed ballot containing the names of all the candidates. He then proceeds to mark the names of those for whom he wishes to vote. He folds the ballot and deposits it without inspection by anybody. This system renders it impossible for employers to watch and bulldoze their employees on election day. It ensures a perfectly free and perfectly honest election. If it shall be introduced in all the States, it will no longer be possible for the Republicans to charge intimidation or fraud at the polls.

Let us have it everywhere and have it before the next Presidential election.

NO TROUBLE BETWEEN THE RACES.

The grand jury of Montgomery County, Ala., in its report last week says: "It may be worthy of note as indicating unmistakably the relations of amity existing between the races here, that no serious act of violence has been reported to this grand jury, committed by white persons against a colored person, or vice versa, and that in nearly every instance complaints of assault and battery, and assault with intent to kill, were made by colored persons against those of their own race."
